

A QUICK COMPARISON

Shipping Modes for Transporting LPG, Oil and Gas to Mexico

Train

Truck

Pipeline

Flexibility

Ship to a variety of rail-served locations and adapt as markets evolve

Reach remote locations that aren't rail served

Ship to the same destination

Border Crossing and Transit Time

Faster border crossing than truck

Slower border crossing than rail and pipeline

Faster border crossing than truck

Transit time comparable to truck

Transit time comparable to rail

Transit time slower than rail and truck

Volume

Best for medium quantities

Approx. 700 barrels of oil/gas or 750 barrels of LPG per rail car

Best for small quantities

Approx. 200 barrels of oil/gas or 250 barrels of LPG per truckload

Best for unlimited quantities

Safety

Less safety risk - travels through less populated areas

Greater safety risk - travels through more populated areas

Less safety risk - travels underground

Theft risk

Read more about your options here.

Or, contact us at trackrecord@up.com to get a quote.

Track Record
by UP