

Establishing a Mini Industrial Park in Your Community

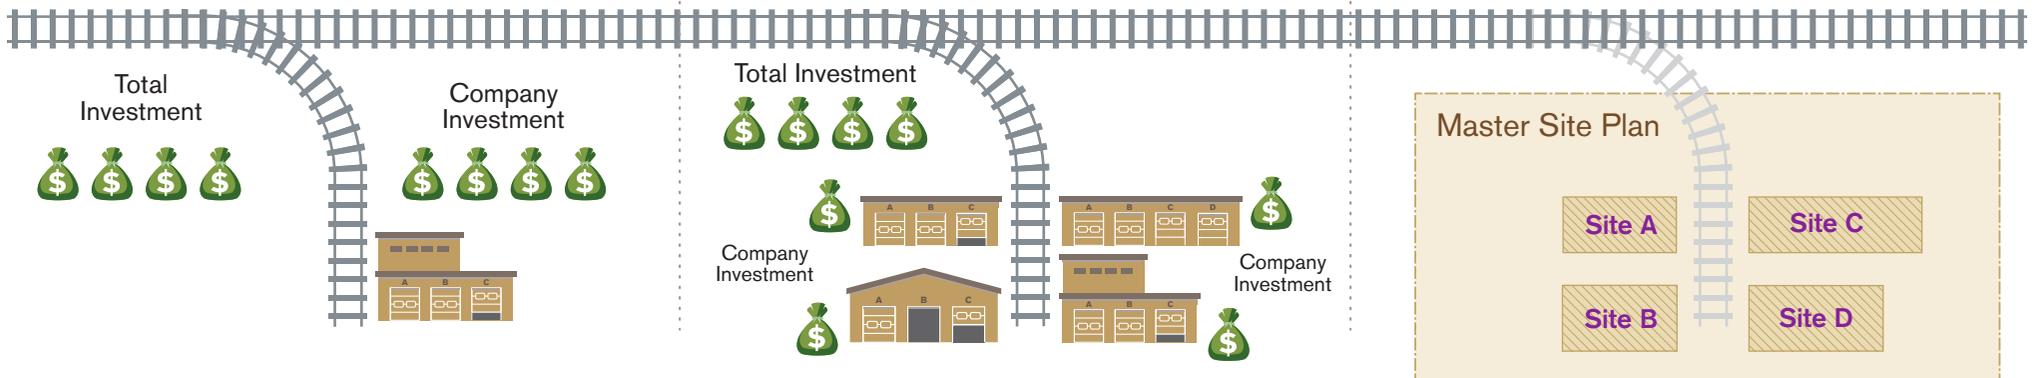

co-lo·cate [kō 'lōkāt]:

to partake of, use, experience or occupy with others; to have in common; to divide and distribute Rail development for a single company requires infrastructure investment.

Colocation allows the rail infrastructure investments to be distributed among entities.

Creating a master plan for a mini industrial park provides clients with lower-cost investment options in your community.

Union Pacific can help you develop a master plan.

Contact us today to learn more about the tools we have to support your business retention and expansion objectives.
www.up.com/customers/within-reach

